Claims 17-21 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-8 of U.S. Patent No. 6,655,371. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the application claim(s) is merely broader than the patent claim(s). Once an applicant has received a patent for a specific embodiment, he is not entitled to a patent for a generic or broader invention; the more specific anticipates the broader. In re Goodman, 29 USPQ 2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Claims 1-3 & 22 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-8 of U.S. Patent No. 6,655,371 in view of Angeloni 5,415,154.

Patent 6,655,371 does not disclose an arrow rest coupled to the cable guard. Angeloni shows that a bow may include a cable saver 15 adjustably mounted on a cable guard 25, by means of a swing arm 21, and a fall-away arrow rest 31 coupled to the cable guard. This would be useful with the cable guard of patent 6,655,371 so that the arrow rest does not interfere with the arrow as it is fired. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the bow of patent 6,655,371 with a fall away arrow rest, as suggested by Angeloni.

In the remarks of October 4, 2004, it is noted that Applicant stated that a Terminal Disclaimer has been submitted. However, no Terminal Disclaimer has been received.

Claims 4-6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 7, & 9-16 are allowed.
